Automatic, manual, and hydrostatic transmissions are discussed. Hydrostatic Transmission - Rebuild - Sundstrand Hydro Transmission. I changed the hydrostatic oil and used F type which the service manual suggested.

From what i have read about most types of those hydro-static transmissions, is that when they fail to work properly--kiss it goodbye, and buy a new one. Can't you get any satisfaction from the mfg.

Of the rider? Or, the Dealer? Ohh, a few folks say they have dumped out the old fluid, and refilled the tranny, but they don't usually say how long that trick lasted. And, since you haven't gotten any answers, go to the Dealer and inquire about your problem. I have a really nice lawn tractor here, that has a bad tranny, and the cost of replacement is more than it is worth. A friend has an old JD lawn tractor, He told me it wouldn't go up a steep part of his lawn, I told him it needed a new tranny.

He said the dealer would change the fluid and all would be well again. Dealer did that, and it didn't help. Volvo N10 Manual there. Took a new tranny to fix it. So, since yours doesn't go up hill, or slips, or doesn't perform properly--maybe a new tranny would help. Although, since you say the machine has two transmissions, better tread lightly, and examine your options. HTH: Rusty J. Zf Meritor Service Manual.

BZ. Just had this problem myself and here is what has worked so far. My Z5000 is about 5 years old (s/n 27) and has Hydro Gear EZT Transaxle drive motors model ZC. Regardless of what you have read or been told these are NOT sealed units. they have a vent on top.

My right one failed in warranty and was replaced by Toro. The left one started acting up yesterday. After mowing for 20 minutes or so started slowing down until it would no longer drive at all. I found and downloaded a service manual for it online and discovered the following:

These are self contained units w/integral pump/motor/reservoir. Fluid is 20W50 motor oil with a max capacity of 1650ml. There is a vent on top with a hose attached. Next to the vent is the fill/drain plug. The transaxle must be removed to check/drain/fill the unit. With the transaxle off the mower and level remove the drain plug. Using a straight piece of wire measure down from the top of the fill hole to oil level.

1952 Fordson Major Diesel Manual. S/B. 75' - 1.5'. At this point I turned mine upside down and drained the oil into a clean drain pan.

Get as much out as possible and then measure what you got. I got 1100ml out of mine and refilled with 1200ml of Castrol 20W50. Replace fill plug and reinstall transaxle. To purge air first lock the freewheel lever then start mower with the rear wheels in the air. Move the control lever forwards and backwards 5 times. Release the freewheel lever and repeat. After doing this today I mowed for 2 hours without problems.

Will it last? Hopefully but so far I am only out $12 for oil instead of $600 for a transaxle. Good Luck, Ike. Well, dad4077, your post sure saved my bacon. Iseki 1610 Manual.

Your post may be a couple of years old, but it was just the post I needed. I'm working on my 11 year old Torro Z5030, and am having the same problems as the original poster.
